EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Among the aims of the ATMAPS project "Specification of symbols used on Audio-Tactile Maps for individuals with blindness" is to promote the use of the specified unique "audio-tactile symbols" and boost the systematic production of Audio-Tactile Maps that will address and satisfy specific needs of Individuals with Visual Impairments (IVIs).

In order to incorporate audio-tactile information in education and everyday life of IVIs, ATMAPS project foresees to develop channels of communication with interested parties such as individuals, decision makers and multipliers of the project outcomes.

In this report, we describe the strategy on how these groups will be identified and informed during the project implementation about all activities on the specification of symbols used in audio-tactile maps for individuals with blindness.

In this context an important outcome of the project is the development of an Electronic Index of organizations related to the outcomes of the project such as Associations for the Blind, Associations of Special Educators, related Governmental and EU Organisations all over Europe.

1. ELECTRONIC INDEX OBJECTIVES

The developed Electronic Index of all organizations related to the outcomes of the project (end-user Associations for the Blind, related Governmental and EU Organizations such as Directorates or Secretaries of the Ministries of Education regulatory authorities all over Europe) was created in order to provide easy access and categorized information to contact details of organizations for communication purposes to be used from all interested parties.

The Electronic Index is an important mean for making the results of the ATMAPS project publicly available and will be used for dissemination and exploitation purposes within the project's scope.

In this report, we will define the target groups that will be included in the index and how we will incorporate them in the project. Then, we describe the strategy how the addresses are collected. Last, we describe the infrastructure and the technical solution to make the electronic index visible and publicly available.

2. IDENTIFICATION OF TARGET GROUPS

The target groups of the ATMAPS project are very diverse. In this section, we describe why the particular target groups are addressed by the ATMAPS project

- End-users who are interested in the project in general.

During the project a large number of people is contacted via the network of the project partners. Most of them are facing problems with orientation and mobility and have no access to maps in general. They are potentially users of the end products of the project and thus they are usually very interested in using new methods and technologies. Moreover, many of them are active in their networks in order to exchange experiences on how to deal with the effects of blindness. This group will have a great influence on their communities requesting that organisations will use new technologies.

Associations for the Blind play a very important role when it comes to the rights of people with blindness and also act as a direct communication channel with the blind community. Many of them are working as advisors in governmental committees. They have to be consulted when laws or regulations that concern people with disabilities are discussed. Thus, this group usually has an influence on decision making processes.

- Teachers of IVIs who are working with people with blindness can make use of audio-tactile maps during their lessons and teaching activities, e.g. in geography classes etc in order to improve the awareness of IVIs that maps can be a useful source of information.
- Rehabilitation specialists need to know about new technological developments regarding the orientation and mobility. Some of them will produce maps for people with blindness themselves.
- Orientation and Mobility (O&M) specialists train people with blindness in order to improve their orientation and mobility. They are one of the first persons who are consulted when blind people are moving to a new place. The O&M specialists produce maps by themselves in order to give their trainees an overview of a new environment.
- Designers of O&M aids are designers of aids that can be used by IVIS in order to help them improve their orientation and mobility skills. The material that will be developed within the ATMAPS project can be used as an addition to tools created by designers of O&M aids in order to prepare IVIs for new environments.

- Governmental and EU Organisations are individuals working in national and EU organisations, Directorates and Secretaries of the Ministries of Education are the persons who need to be informed about new technologies and the potential improvements and what they can mean for people with blindness. They are decision makers who can decide that audio-tactile information is incorporated in public areas (e.g. city halls, public buildings and city centers).
- Others

3. STRATEGY OF COLLECTING CONTACT INFORMATION OF ORGANIZATIONS

The contact information of organizations to be added in the electronic index were collected in three phases.

During the first phase, an initial list of organizations and their contact information were collected and added to the electronic index within the private area of the collaboration platform by all partner countries. The initial list of organizations included organizations from each partner's home country. The organizations indexed fulfilled the criteria of the target groups as stated above. This means that the network of the project partners was the basis to create a new established index.

In the second phase, the project partners added addresses of all other EU countries. Each partner was assigned different EU countries to search for organizations within their own networks and on the Internet, and added the organizations and contact information to the electronic index of organizations.

After the completion of 2nd phase the addresses were made publicly available on the website with one exception. The end users are stored separately in the private area of the platform to protect their privacy rights. They receive the same information about the project regularly as well, but their addresses are not publicly available on the website.

All collected addresses were used as recipients of the first newsletter.

During the third phase organizations who wish to be included in the electronic index can send an email with their contact information to the webmaster of the ATMAPS website via a form which is available on the website. After the contact details are checked the organizations receive a confirmation and will be added to the index of organizations.

4. INFRASTRUCTURE OF ELECTRONIC INDEX

Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT) as the responsible partner provided the infrastructure to establish the electronic index in the private area of the project's collaboration platform.

All project members started to collect addresses from their parent country and added them to the index.

4.1 Data entry feature

A custom made feature "INDEX" were developed and integrated added to the private area of the project web site. The indexed data was then entered under the INDEX module in the project's content management system. Figure 1 shows the button on top of the private section of the website which leads to a form with respective fields.

The form consists of obligatory and optional fields. Figure 2 shows the full form with the different fields.

Please add related organisations and their contact details (English only).

Type of Organisation* ?

Name* ?

Contact Person ?

Country* ?

City / ZIP code* ?

Street* ?

Website ?

Email ?

Please select one or more proper types of organisations.

Please enter the name of the organisation.

Please enter your Email address.

Fields with an * are required.

The following types of data were defined by the project partners:

- Type of organisation - which can be chosen by a drop down list. The different types of organisations are:
 - End user
 - Association for the Blind
 - Teachers of IVIs
 - Rehabilitation specialist
 - O&M specialist
 - Designer of O&M aids
 - Governmental and EU organisation
 - Other
- Name - of organisation
- Contact person [optional]
- Country - can be selected from a drop down list. The list provides all European countries and Turkey as well
- City and ZIP code
- Street
- Website [optional]

- Email [optional]

After adding the above information for an organisation it can be submitted to the Index list.

4.2 Displaying the Data

Each record of indexed organisation and its contact information is presented in a table with the respective columns.

The addresses in the index of organisations can be selected by the following items (see Figure 3):

- Type of organisation
- Name
- Country

Type of organisation	Name	Contact person	Country	City/ZIP code	Street	Website	Email

By clicking on one of the items in the column headers the information is ordered by the selection criterion.

4.3 Export data

There is also a simple function which allows the data to be exported to an MS Excel file. The retrieved addresses can be used to send newsletters or other dissemination and informational material to the indexed organisations.

4.4 Data entry by interested organisations

The developed solution for the Electronic Index also provides a feature that will be possible for organisations to make a request in order to be added to the index. For that purpose an application form is provided on the project’s public website where organisations can fill in their contact details and information in order to be included in the index. The request of the interested organisations will be sent for approval via e-mail to KIT which is the responsible partner. Once KIT approves the organisation’s request the organisation’s details will be added to the index list. By utilizing the request and approval procedure the partners aim to maintain a list of organisations closely related to the scope of the ATMAPS project without any spam addresses listed.

The screenshot shows a web interface with a sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right. The sidebar contains a 'Language' section with flags for German, French, Turkish, and English, and a list of menu items including 'Home - English', 'About ATMAPS', 'Goals', 'Project's phases', 'Partners', 'Deliverables', 'News', 'Index of Organisations', 'Add your organisation', and 'Promotional material'. The 'Add your organisation' button is highlighted in blue and has a red arrow pointing to it. Below the sidebar is a 'Login' section with the text 'Hi mueller,' and a 'Log out' button. The main content area is titled 'Submit record' and contains a form with the following fields: 'Type of Organisation*' (a dropdown menu with options like 'Association for the Blind', 'Rehabilitation specialist', etc.), 'Name*', 'Contact Person', 'Country*' (a dropdown menu with 'Select below'), 'City / ZIP code*', 'Street', 'Website', 'Email', and 'Comment'. A 'Submit' button is located at the bottom of the form. A note at the bottom of the form states 'Fields with * are required.'

5. PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

It is expected that the index of organization will grow during the next months. The current members of the list receive regularly new information about the results of the project.
